

Her Justice CLE Trainings: FAQs

Her Justice offers free CLE trainings for attorneys who are building the skills and knowledge to represent Her Justice clients. Whether you're preparing to take your first pro bono case with us or looking to deepen your expertise, here's what to know about attending a training.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Who can register for a Her Justice training session?

Her Justice trainings are designed for attorneys representing Her Justice clients.

- Attorneys and in-house counsel at corporations that are representing Her Justice clients may register for trainings. If you are in-house counsel, please email us before registering at CLEtrainings@herjustice.org.
- Law firm associates and summer associates who have not yet been admitted to the New York State Bar may also attend, provided they are supervised by an admitted attorney from their firm.

Can I earn CLE credits?

Yes. Her Justice is an accredited New York State CLE provider. You may receive CLE credit for viewing or attending trainings or for completing pro bono work on a Her Justice case. For more information, please email CLEtrainings@herjustice.org.

Is there a cost for trainings?

No. All Her Justice trainings are free of charge.

Who teaches the trainings?

Our Justice staff attorneys lead all trainings. Our trainers have decades of experience practicing immigration, divorce, and family law in New York and regularly mentor pro bono attorneys throughout their cases.

Where do trainings happen?

We offer both live, in-person sessions at law firms in New York City and virtual, pre-recorded sessions online. Live trainings are typically reserved for the hosting law firm or a small group of participating firms working on similar types of cases.

What materials will I receive?

Her Justice will provide access to our training materials library before your training.

What happens after I complete my training?

After completing your training, you'll have the opportunity to be matched with a Her Justice client, either individually or as part of a team. Our staff attorneys will mentor and support you throughout the case.
